Approved For Release 2000/08/03: CIA-RDP75-001

WASHINGTON POST AND TIMES HERALD

MAY 12 1964

The spy trial of Swedish air force Col. Stig Wenner-stroem, charged with spying for Russia, was opened to the public yesterday for the first time since the trial opened April 9. Wenner-stroem, a former attache in Moscow and Washington, told the packed courtroom he hoped to get a pension from the Russians for his work but the pension never materialized.